

Anodised Windows & Feature Panels

Waldron House, SW3

In the heart of the Royal Borough of Kensington and Chelsea on Old Church Street, NES has been instrumental in the transformation of Waldron House from a block of offices into eight luxury apartments.

Over 100 anodised windows with integral feature panels and balustrades were manufactured at our factory in Essex and installed ready for the project completion in August 2011.

Precision engineering was vital to this project and the high quality finish produced by NES Architectural completed the transformation from a once ugly duckling in to an elegant swan.
